

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Sarah Attwood, Director of Client Services

Phone: [512] 326-3001

Email: sattwood@integreview.com

Integreview IRB Adds Renowned Professor Emeritus to Team

[AUSTIN, TEXAS, 13-July-2018]

IntegReview IRB announces that Ernest D. Prentice, Ph.D., has joined the organization as a Senior Consultant to the IRB.

In his new role, Dr. Prentice will work with IntegReview leadership to provide consultation to the IRB and educate researchers by speaking at upcoming research conferences.

“We are thrilled to work with someone as experienced and knowledgeable as Dr. Prentice,” said Melissa Meyer, President of IntegReview IRB. “He has an incredible, respected reputation from his work at the Department of Genetics, Cell Biology and Anatomy at the University of Nebraska Medical Center [Professor Emeritus]. With his background and involvement with Institutional based and Central IRBs, we are honored for him to join the IntegReview team.”

IntegReview IRB is an AHRPP-accredited independent IRB based in Austin, Texas. It is a certified women-owned IRB and will be celebrating its 20th anniversary next year. IntegReview provides exemplary quality-driven ethical review (IRB services) for pharma, medical device, biotech and researchers across the U.S, Latin America and Japan. IntegReview has collaborations with Veritas [a Canadian IRB] for the review of its Canadian research sites as well as with Clinical Biosafety Services for its clients' independent biosafety committee needs.

If you would like more information about this topic, please email IntegReview IRB at businessdevelopment@integreview.com.